The Tombstone story: A guy walks into a bar (because he owns it) in the small town of Medford, Wisconsin. The guy? Joe (Pep) Simek. The bar? The Tombstone Tap, named after the local cemetery right across the street. Crazy, right? Definitely. Anyway, one particularly rowdy night, Joe was dancing the night away doing the “Peppermint Twist” and wound up breaking his leg. One might say it was a simple twist of fate. So with extra time on his hands (and off his feet), Joe started experimenting with- yes- you guessed it, pizza recipes. With demand for their pizzas through the roof, the Simeks opened their first large-scale manufacturing facility.

How much do people love TOMBSTONE® pizza?

So much so, they were finally able to go national in ‘96! Taking family pizza night to a whole new zesty level, Tombstone joined Nestlé, keeping the Simek brothers’ original tavern sensation alive. And, that tradition still lives on in each and every TOMBSTONE® pizza!!
